

RULES CORRECTIONS

Main Game

- In the Game Setup (§ 3) it states, "Each Player is dealt three cards." This should read, "Each Player is dealt two cards."
- Under the Redraw heading it states, "Any player who either starts their turn with two Accusation Cards or is unable to make a legal play may discard their hand and draw three more cards before beginning their turn." This should read, "Any player who either starts their turn with two Accusation Cards or is unable to make a legal play may discard their hand and redraw it before beginning their turn."

This is to reflect that a player may redraw their hand in situations where they have either two cards in their hand (at the beginning of their turn if they are holding two accusation cards) or three cards (after drawing a card on their turn and being unable to make a legal play).

Two Player Variation – Replace the Rules under the Two Player Variation with these rules.

- Play with two Victim Cards instead of three.
- Deal each player a Character Card. Leave the undealt Character Cards off to the side.
- Players start the game with three cards in their hand instead of two.
- Players draw two cards at the start of their turn.
- Players play two cards during their turn (instead of one). However, accusation cards may only be played with the first card of a player's turn, not the second.
